

SOUTH AMERICA

AN ANTHOLOGY OF TRAVEL WRITING

CELIA DILLOW (EDITOR)

Published as part of Bradt's 'Year of South America Travel' (which includes a major London festival and the centenary edition of the South American Handbook), this is a deftly curated collection of fine travel writing across nearly 200 years. From William Hudson's boyhood experiences in Argentina in the early 1800s to recent eventful trips by the likes of Kate Humble and Simon Reeves, this unique anthology paints a vivid picture of the continent, past and present.

Covering a dozen countries, these travellers' tales will delight and inspire anyone who has ever journeyed through Latin America – or has longed to visit while remaining in the comfort of their armchair.

KEY SALES POINTS

- Timed to complement publication of the new centenary edition of the legendary South American Handbook
- The first multi-author compendium of travel writing about South America
- Contributors include Charles Darwin, W.H. Hudson, Simon Reeve, Kate Humble and Matthew Parris
- Features 12 countries and stars evocative destinations such as the Galapagos, Patagonia, Amazon, Andes, Machu Picchu and Tierra del Fuego

ABOUT THE EDITOR

Celia Dillow is a teacher, traveller, editor, writer, and former winner of the Bradt New Travel Writer of the Year competition. In 2021 she edited Travel Write, a compendium of the best entries from 20 years of the competition. She has lived in Uruguay and travelled extensively throughout South America.

9781804692707
£26.99
JUNE 2025

9781784778996
£14.99
SEPTEMBER 2022

JULY 2025 • 9781804693100 • £14.99 • 320pp • 198mm X 130mm